

PROVINCIAL OUTREACH 2017

Assessment & Reporting in the Modernized Curriculum

BC's modernized curriculum has opened up new opportunities and challenges. Now that K-9 educators have completed an inaugural year of required compliance and 10-12 educators are on the cusp of full implementation, much attention has shifted to how to best assess and report student learning. FISA and the MoE are excited to provide a series of workshops focused specifically on aligning assessment and reporting with the modernized curriculum.

Day of Learning: Living Assessment

Participants will experience and reflect on learning and assessment illuminating the guiding principles of the modernized curriculum. Applicable to K-12 educators and administrators, this immersive day of learning will offer ideas and insights related to effective assessment and reporting practices.

FISA has assembled a strong team of presenters eager to share their experiences regarding assessment and reporting knowledge.

Rose Pillay, Educational Consultant, CISVA

Rose's work involves empowering educators to grow in their instructional agility with a focus on effective assessment. Rose carries her trademark enthusiasm in her work as a sessional instructor at St. Mark's College. She has made notable contributions to provincial initiatives such as the K-12 Innovation Partnerships; Core Competencies Consulting Group; and High School Focus Group for the Transformed Curriculum. From EdCamps, EDvents, Ignite Nights, to TEDx events, Rose is everywhere.

Jodie Sussex, Principal, St. Francis of Assisi School

Passionate about the success of all students to reach their potential, Jodie is exploring innovative strategies regarding assessment and communicating student learning. Inspired and inspired by Daniel Pink and Carol Dweck, Jodie is collaborating with others to redesign report cards that focus on growth rather than grades as focus moves towards strengths-based learning in relation to the core competencies.

Greg Gerber, Director of Instruction, SCSBC

Greg is deeply engaged in the practice and scholarship of teaching and learning. As Director of Learning at SCSBC, Sessional Instructor at SFU and TWU, and a member of BC's Assessment Advisory Group, Greg is known for his work. He finds joy in resolving tensions between espoused learning theory and classroom practice, and finding creative ways to develop learner-centered approaches. Greg has extensive experience in curriculum, leadership, technology integration, pedagogy, and instruction.

Janet Dhanani, Assistant Executive Director, FISA

Janet has taught all grades from pre-K to 12 along with serving as an elementary and secondary school principal, working at UBC as an Educational Developer, and leading Khalsa Schools as Director of Education. At FISA, she oversees Pro-D opportunities such as the ERASE training program, implementation of the modernized curriculum, and the many committees working to ensure that the BC education system maintains its excellent global standing and that independent schools maintain their strong reputation as schools of excellence.

*This full-day Pro-D event will take place in 10 locations around the Province to enable as many educators as possible to take advantage of this exceptional opportunity.
