Executive Director's Message

Dear Independent Schools,

It is hard for me to believe that we are already in the month of April and entering the final stretch of this school year. Hopefully your school communities enjoyed a restful and joy-filled Spring Break.

I offer my sincere appreciation to the many school communities that have warmly welcomed me for visits to their schools, attendance at their conferences and to other special school events. Educational research points to the long-lasting and positive effects of developing connections between students and school staff. FISA also benefits from and greatly values the relationships we have built with our schools, associations, BC education partners and the Ministry of Education.

I am also very thankful for the commitment our 5 associations have made by encouraging their gifted educators to engage with their public-school colleagues to serve on Ministry of Education committees and working groups. These Ministry teams collaborate to establish resources and best practices that help to shape the success of the BC education system.

There is important and exciting work happening through FISA Board committees. The FISA Funding Committee is tasked with exploring options that will ensure independent schools continue to receive equitable funding. FISA's Assistant Executive Director, Janet Dhanani and Mental Health and Well-being Committee Chair, Jenny Williams have been facilitating and leading the work of their committee to create valuable resources intended to assist independent schools to better support their students and staff members.

FISA continues to advocate for and partner with the Ministry of Education to provide valuable professional development to comply with regulatory requirements and to enhance professional practice. Please regularly visit the FISA website to explore the opportunities available in your area.

Best regards, Shawn

Premier's Awards for Excellence in Education

Without a doubt, many extraordinary people work within BC's independent school system. The Premier's Award for Excellence in Education is a chance to recognize them. FISA encourages independent schools to nominate people that truly make a difference in the lives of the students and staff in your community. Last October Shawn Chisholm, Executive Director of FISA BC and Elizabeth Moore, Executive Director of ISABC, attended the Premier's award ceremony and found it puzzling that more independent school educators were not nominated, and none were represented on the list of 27 award finalists. Please take time to review this opportunity <https://www2.gov.bc.ca/gov/content/education-training/k-12/teach/excellence-in-education>. The Ministry of Education has extended the deadline for nominations to April 30, 2019.

FISA Funding Committee

The FISA Board of Directors, in response to the provincial public school funding review, established an ad hoc independent school funding committee. This committee has representatives from each of the 5 FISA member associations and additional members that bring expertise in the areas of Special Education, Distributed Learning and Finance. The committee is chaired by Mr. Doug Lauson, who, as the past president of FISA, brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to this committee.

While independent schools are not within the scope of the provincial public education funding review, we recognize that changes to public school funding could potentially affect independent school funding. With this in mind, the committee is working collaboratively with the Ministry of Education to explore funding options that will best support the exceptional services BC independent schools provide for the students and families we serve.

Make a Future

Make a Future

CAREERS IN BC EDUCATION

FISA is happy to announce that we are now official partners with Make a Future. To date, over 100 independent schools have signed agreements with Make a Future allowing schools to access a suite of recruitment and human resources services. To help schools understand how to use all the facets of Make a Future, online training sessions will occur in April and May as needed. Make a Future will communicate directly with enrolled schools regarding the dates and times of these sessions.

It's not too late to join Make a Future. FISA anticipates that the upcoming school year will once again present hiring challenges and encourages independent schools to join Make a Future in order to widen your candidate pool. For enquiries, please contact Shawn at shawn@fisabc.ca.

Well-Being Project

FISA has received an Early Action Initiative grant to promote mental health and well-being in school communities. Part of the project will involve creating a website resource portal that will house video content and practical tools and resources for teachers that will include videos of experts and schools demonstrating effective practices. We are looking for nominations of teachers or other staff (administrators, counsellors, etc.) you believe already implement effective strategies. Our film team will work with your staff to showcase strategies that may help educators better understand strategies which promote health and wellness.

Video topics include

- ◇ Creating a positive school climate and a sense of belonging (e.g., Attachment and Trauma Informed practices).
- ◇ The impact of community service learning on emotional well-being.
- ◇ Peers as positive influencers on student well-being (e.g., peer mentoring, peer mediation).
- ◇ Cognitive behaviour strategies at school (e.g., Zones of Regulation, self-monitoring techniques).
- ◇ Intense exercise in support of focus, learning behaviour and decreasing anxiety and stress (e.g., treadmills/stationary bikes in classroom).
- ◇ The impact of sleep on learning, emotional regulation and behaviour (e.g., late start schedules).
- ◇ The impact of good nutrition on learning, emotional regulation and behaviour (e.g., breakfast programs, school gardens).
- ◇ Kernels of mindfulness (e.g., breathing, turtle strategy, body scan, and other regulating strategies).
- ◇ The impact of social-emotional learning programs in the classroom (e.g., At My Best, MindUp).
- ◇ Social-emotional care for educators (e.g., wellness committees, accommodating HR practices).
- ◇ Assessment of social-emotional learning (e.g., Early/Middle Development Instrument, rating scales).
- ◇ Effects of child protection programs (e.g., Kids in the Know, Safeteen, RespectED).
- ◇ Mental health curriculum in the classroom (e.g., Mental Health Literacy course).
- ◇ Stress/anxiety reduction programs in the classroom (e.g., Taming Worry Dragons).

If your school is implementing any of the above topics, or doing something special to support student and staff well-being that is not listed, please fill out the nomination form available on the FISA website—<https://fisabc.ca/> under the Services – Forms/Applications tab.

First Nations Schools Association

The Truth and Reconciliation Commission has rightly challenged Canadian schools to enrich relationships with Indigenous Peoples. As a small step in this direction, the FISA Board of Directors will be meeting with the First Nations Schools Association (FNSA) Board of Directors so that each organization can gain an understanding of the work being done and identify areas of cooperation. Independent school educators are invited to attend FNSA's annual conference on April 12th-13th in Richmond. This year's theme is Persistent and Resilient: Striving to be the best. More information on the FNSA website <http://www.fnsa.ca/conference>

Ministry of Education Committees/Working Groups

FISA is very pleased that the Ministry of Education consistently requests independent school educators for participation on important committees/working groups that influence the direction of BC education. Thank you to the five FISA association heads for providing FISA with strong candidate names. The caliber of the candidates is exceptional, and representative of the outstanding work being done in independent schools. Unfortunately, there are generally more candidates than positions to fill, therefore not everyone who is fully qualified is able to be included. Please know FISA reviews all the candidate submissions and attempts to allocate these assignments across all five FISA associations.

Spanish Language and Culture Assistants Program

The Spanish Ministry of Education and the BC Ministry of Education invite independent schools with Spanish language programs to consider participating in the Language and Culture Assistants program. This program provides BC schools with a native Spanish speaker from Spain (mainly university students in teacher education programs) who can help the classroom teacher encourage students to improve their fluency and enrich their knowledge of Spanish culture. The majority of the expenses are covered by the Spanish government with participating schools requested to provide a small stipend for living expenses.

Congratulations to Discover Montessori School for your contribution to stewardship and restoration in Nanaimo parks as recognized by the City of Nanaimo.

Well done!
